The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING, JAN. 25, 1864.

No flag but the Old Flag—the Red, White and Blue,
With the stars of a Union unbroken and true!
Arise and defend it! ye sons of the brave,
Whose blood bought the banner your valor must save.

REMOVAL.

The Office of the DAILY and WEEKLY OREGONIAN has been removed to Carter's new brick block, corner of Front and Washington streets, up stairs. Entrance on Washington street, first door from Front.

UNION STATE CONVENTION.

The Union voters of the various Counties of the State of Oregon, who are in favor of the continued and vigorous prosecution of the present war to the complete and final suppression of rebellion and extinction of treason, and in favor of hearty and efficient support of the authorities of the General Government in their efforts to protect and defend the Constitution and laws of the United States, and preserve and perpetuate the Union, and who are willing to combine for the election of men of like principles to all offices in this State, are respectfully and earnestly invited to hold conventions according to usual custom, for election of delegates to a State Union Convention, to be held at Albany, in Linn county, on Wednesday, the 30th day of March, 1864, for the purpose of nominating candidates for Representative to Congress and State Printer, electing delegates to the National Union Convention, and providing for the selection of candidates for Presidential Electors, and transacting such other business as the Convention shall deem proper.

We respectfully recommend the holding of County Conventions on the 1st day of March, 1864.

We also respectfully recommend the holding of Conventions of delegates from the various districts at the time and place of holding the State convention, for the nomination of candidates for Supreme Judges and Prosecuting Attorneys in the several districts where vacancies shall exist.

The several counties will be entitled to delegates in the State Convention as follows: Benton, 6; Clackamas, 8; Clatsop, 4; Columbia, 3; Coos, 1; Curry, 1; Douglas, 8; Jackson, 10; Josephine, 2; Linn, 8; Linn, 12; Marion, 12; Multnomah, 8; Polk, 6; Tillamook, 1; Wasco, 10; Washington, 4; Yamhill, 6; Umatilla, 2; Baker 3—Total, 112.

By order of the Union State Central Committee.

JOHN H. MOORES, Chairman.
A. G. HOVEY, Secretary.

SALEM, January 6th, 1864.

Taxing the Mines.

On the proposition to tax the proceeds of the mines, in the report of the Secretary of the Interior, the New York Tribune says:

The Secretary is probably right in seeking to make our mines of gold and silver contribute directly to the replenishment of our sorely overburdened treasury; but how will he do it? For any and every scheme for filling it from the Rocky Mountains and the desert wastes of Idaho and Nevada with toll-gatherers from the miners we are inflexibly opposed. It may ever so promising on paper, but it will prove a long vexatious nuisance without adding one stiver to the National resources. The scheme has been thoroughly tried with regard to the lead mines of the West and the copper mines of Lake Superior, and proved a costly operation. But let an Act be passed forbidding the exportation of gold in any shape but that of coin or minted bars, and requiring all gold mined in this country to be sent to the National mints for coinage or assay, and imposing a moderate tax or seigniorage on such assay, and something may be made of it. We shall soon be digging $100,000,000 per annum of gold and silver; and what five per cent. seigniorage ought to pay the expenses of all our Mints and put $5,000,000 net into the treasury. In that case the mines may be made directly productive to the treasury—probably not in any other. Rotary to be that only the net proceeds of the mines shall be taxed. To this, so far as we know, mine owners are not opposed; as by this plan only those mines which are productive would be taxed, and those who own such on this coast are willing to pay a tax, if the Government will protect them in the possession of the land used by them. When mines pay from three hundred to three thousand dollars a month to their owners, they can afford and ought to be willing to pay a tax on the net proceeds to the Government, when every other department of business and trade is liberally contributing means for the support of the free institutions of the country.

THE NEVADA CONSTITUTION.—There is an active opposition to the adoption of the Constitution recently made, based in part upon objections to the instrument, and in part upon the inexpediency of rushing prematurely into a State organization. The Appeal, which seems to be well informed upon the subject, says:

"We are inclined to think that all patriotic and Union men in Nevada who oppose the Constitution, are serving their country. The politicians have taken possession of the State, and are running the machine exclusively for their aggrandisement. The best men in the State, the old pioneers, have been rejected, and in their places men of doubtful loyalty and of the lowest mental capacity have been substituted. We expect that the Constitution will be defeated, and these chaps who have been so fast to advance themselves at the expense of a State Government will be left at home."

We agree with the Appeal, if the facts are as stated, but at the same time, we hardly see what is to be gained by delay. California is always ready to furnish politicians, broken down at home, for important positions elsewhere, and will be as likely to do so five years hence as now, unless human nature improves enough in that time to be able to resist bribes and to refuse bargains. Nevada will have to pass through the process of temptation, and it may as well show its independence or its submission now as at any other time, for California politicians seldom die and never get retired, when offices are in the market.

MORE REBEL SYMPATHY.—The action of the opposition members of Congress, as reported in the dispatches received by the steamer, shows a persistent purpose to embarrass the Government and to aid and comfort in the most material and essential manner, the foes of the country. Caucuses are held daily by these malcontents, and under a pretence of favoring the war, every device which malignant and treasonable ingenuity can invent, is proposed for the sake of mischief. Of course being in a minority they can accomplish nothing, except the utterance of their practical sympathy with rebellion; it is a pity that some plan cannot be adopted which will stop that, in the council chambers of the Nation, and will teach Congressional traitors to hold their tongues.

NEW RAILROAD.—The road from San Francisco to San José has been completed, and passengers were taken through on the 16th inst.

HOW FORTUNES ARE MADE IN NEW YORK—AMBITION OF THE LUCKY FINANCIERS FOR FOREIGN TITLES.—"Manhattan" writes on the 28th October, from New York, to the London Morning Journal, as follows:

To-day the city is filled with all sorts of reports from the seat of war on the Potomac; Rappahannock, or wherever the opposing force happens to be at the present moment, and I presume the respective commanders only know where that is. Such lies as came over the wires for a week! One day Lee was chasing Meade clean up to the gates of the capitals. Then it was Lee that was being chased, and so it alternated day after day, until last night an extra was issued stating that Lee and his army had been captured. This morning the news is contradicted. It seems the arch military rebel leader has escaped with his army, and they are running as fast as they can toward Richmond. This is the latest news, and is perfectly reliable until we get something contrary, perhaps to the effect that Washington city is captured.

All this has had the effect of sending gold up or down between the figures 138 and 158 in one week. I wonder the London sports don't come over to this side in a body. There is no such gambling in London. Fortunes are made in an hour between 11 and 3 o'clock. A sport, or broker, goes to a capitalist. Gold is at 130. "I want you to hold for me 48 hours $1,000,000 of gold. I have a deposit to leave with you of $10,000, and will pay you one-eighth for your risk." Gold the next day is at 140, and the day after, before the 48 hours have expired, is at 151. He sells. Before bank closes gets a cheque for a quarter of a million, and then dreams that night of how he shall invest it to be safe: Some of those lucky ones buy hills on London, others buy gold and take it home. Some buy houses. The $10,000 deposited was perhaps money that he had borrowed in small sums, and obtained fraudulently. Such fortunes are made daily by the gold speculators, that all legitimate business is despised. Who wants to work 12 hours out of the 24 for a mean pittance, when one hour in Wall street will perhaps clear $100,000, if rightly employed?

These new favorites of fortune are more impudent after they get their ossify acquired fortunes than the army and navy contractors, who have made a million or more by their swindles. These chaps are not satisfied with buying up all the fastest horses, diamonds, camel's hair shawls, and fine country seats, or town residences, but they open a correspondence with our consuls in Europe to ascertain whether titles of nobility can be bought at any time. I know one of these contractors who wrote to Consul Campbell, offering him $10,000 and his expenses if he would get him a Danish or Swedish countship. The King of Saxony has also been approached, but the Ministry wrote to Secretary Seward, which he makes public, as follows:

"We are neither disposed, nor is it our duty, to procure information for American army contractors who have grown rich by the civil war in the United States, and now desire to return to Germany with the rank of a nobleman and the title of baron. If these gentlemen wish to ennoble themselves, after they have become rich on the blood of a struggling nation, let them apply to the Emperor of Morocco; or, perhaps this Majesty King Theodorus, of Ethiopia, can accommodate them, and admit them, in grace, among the grandees of his Empire."

That is unkind in Saxony. The idea of recommending our soldiers after nobility to appeal to the Ethiopian King Theodorus! Probably he of Dahomey is meant. This is adding insult to a refusal.

PLEASANT THINGS IN STORE FOR BURNSIDE.—The rebels have pleasant things in store for Burnside—should they catch him. The Petersburg Express, referring to Morgan's confinement in the Ohio Penitentiary, says:

Should a kind, just Providence, so will it that Burnside should fall into our hands, we trust that a cell in some State prison, with a shaved head, coarse fare, prison garb, etc., will be instantly awarded him, as it was by his order that General Morgan was subjected to the outrages which he has endured. In this instance we are for the lex talionis in the strictest sense. An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth, is imperatively demanded, and it is the only mode by which we can compel the Yankees to conduct the war in accordance with the usages of civilized nations.

AN EXPLANATION WANTED.—The Review repeats the stale slander that amalgamation is one of the institutions of Puritan New England. Without stopping to deny the statement, will the editor tell his readers how it happens that there are at least one hundred times as many mulatoes in Virginia—the slave breeding State—as in all New England. Is there any amalgamation down there? Explain, if you please, or stop repeating such absurd stories, which you and everybody else, who is in any degree informed upon the subject, must know are false, and only told to create and magnify a senseless prejudice against a section of the land, which, to say the least, is quite as worthy of praise as any slave State.

The apology of Dick Drum, A. A. G. to Gen. Wright, in reference to patronizing the Marysville Express, a rebel paper, says the Nevada Transcript, reminds us of the discourse of a parson, who arose gravely in his pulpit and slowly said: "Brethren, there was taken from the porch of this church, last Sunday, probably by mistake, a large, new, green silk umbrella, of exceeding great beauty, and in its stead was left an old, faded, small, cotton umbrella, much worn. I say, brethren, taken by mistake, but brethren I am sorry to add, that such mistakes are getting a leetle too common."

KNEW LESS OF POLITICS THAN OF LEATHER.—During the siege of Vicksburg several politicians called on General Grant one day to talk about political matters. General Grant listened to them for a few moments, and then interrupted them, saying:

"There is no use talking politics to me. I know nothing about that subject, and, furthermore, I don't know of any person among my acquaintance who does. But there is one subject with which I am perfectly acquainted, talk of that, and I am your man." What is that, General?" asked the politicians in surprise. "Tanning leather," replied General Grant. General Grant's father was a wealthy tanner out West, and before the rebellion the General himself assisted in conducting the business. Hence the reply.

HARD ON BRAGG.—The following bit of satire is credited to a Southern paper:

After the battle of Chickamauga a soldier, who had been in the enemy's lines and escaped, was carried before General Bragg and questioned in relation to what he saw. He said the rout was complete and the enemy in full retreat when he left. The General asked him if he knew what a retreat was. He looked at the General with surprise, and said: "Why, General, haven't I been with you in your whole campaign?"

A Boston paper gives an idea of the extension of Judaism in that city within twenty years, says that about that time ten Israelites alone assembled in a private house, and had divine worship for the first time in Boston. Now there are four synagogues and about five hundred families in that city.

TERRIBLE! WHAT DOES IT MEAN?—Eastern papers very gravely announce that there is a little female row in high life. Mrs. Lincoln and Mrs. Kate Chase Sprague do not take tea together—and the former would not attend the grand wedding.

EASTERN NEWS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9th.—The Times' special says the Canadian reciprocity treaty got its first notice yesterday by a resolution introduced into the Senate to terminate it. It is understood that an efficient Canada lobby will be here to maintain the present arrangement.

The Pacific Railroad Special Committee had their first meeting last evening, but little was done.

Under the decision of Secretary Chase, the payment of 7-30's will be made in legal currency, unless a resumption of specie payment takes place before the time they are due. Should holders desire, they can convert the notes into 6 per cent. 20-years' bonds, the interest and principal of which are payable in coin.

General Warren has again been placed in command of the Second Corps.

The Washington Star states that the President has ordered a Court Martial, for the trial of Surgeon General Hammond, under charges of fraud and malpractices, brought by the Commission that not long since examined into the affairs of his office.

A letter from Loudon county, Virginia, says daring robberies are being everywhere committed, and money extorted from the inhabitants to save their dwellings from conflagration. There is a greater state of alarm prevailing than ever before existed during the war. The depredations are said to be committed by Southern deserters. There being no protection afforded them citizens are compelled to submit.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—A gentleman who arrived in that city yesterday, from Richmond, states that the main body of the rebel army are encamped between Gordonsville and Orange Court House, that the rebel soldiers are well supplied with clothing, and provisions, such as they are.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10th.—The Herald's Washington special dispatch says: Gens. Meade, Hancock, Meigs and Ingalls, arrived here last night.

The steamer Gen. Beiley, from Nassau the 5th, has arrived. The rebel steamer Lucy, with a cargo of cotton, arrived on the 2d of December. The Nassau Guardian states that Wolf's property, which was seized on the Caroline had been given up on a demand by Lord Lyons, and Wolf had commenced an action for damages against the United States. Several steamers had lately left Nassau for Wilmington.

A dispatch from Cumberland, the 7th, says: Col. Thoburn, in command at Petersburg reports the great raid undertaken by Gen. Early, in rebellion for our late movements in that department, as a great fizzle. One of our empty wagon trains was captured by a portion of the enemy. Within this exception, they have not been able to inflict any damage on us. Many deserters are coming in, and our cavalry are picking up stragglers constantly.

CAIRO, Jan. 10th.—The Little Rock Democrat of the 28th December, says that Price is 18 miles south of Camden. Marmaduke has been relieved from duty. Fagan's headquarters are at Camden, whence he sends scouting parties towards Princeton and Rockport. Lieut. Green, of 3d Arkansas Cavalry, while on his way to Fort Smith with a detachment, was attacked by the rebel Colonel Hall. The rebels were completely routed. The Colonel and nine men were taken prisoners. Capt. Napier, of the same regiment, had an engagement not long since with the rebels in Yell county, and captured Lieut. Burnett and 13 men.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—It is believed that the rebels will not be able to accomplish anything at present in the Shenandoah Valley, owing to the inclement weather and the condition of the streams. The Shenandoah river is impassible from floating ice. The movements of our forces have been such as prevented the possibility of bridge building by the enemy. It is not expected that Early will remain in that section for the present month.

The Navy Department has been advised of the capture of the rebel schooner Marshall J. Smith, by the gunboat Kennebec. She was from Mobile, bound to Havana, with a cargo of cotton and turpentine. Her manifest and other papers were thrown overboard.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Senator Wilson is drafting a bill to reduce the salaries and emoluments of Collectors, Surveyors, and Naval Officers, to $6,000 per annum; and to prevent the evasion of the law, fines and imprisonments will be attached. Congress has learned that these officials, in some cases, are receiving from $20,000 to $50,000 a year.

All the public buildings are draped in mourning, in memory of Hon. Caleb B. Smith.

Benj. J. Harris, member of Congress from Maryland, died of small pox this morning.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—A Chattanooga despatch of the 11th says: A band of rebel cavalry were at Cleveland last Saturday, and conscripted every able-bodied man for the service. The railroads burning order this week.

Generals Hunter, Wadsworth and Cadwalader are also on a Court of Inquiry, on charges against Generals Crittenden and McCook.

In the House to-day Boutwell, from the Judiciary Committee, reported a bill to enable the President's Proclamation to be carried into effect.

CORWIN, Jan. 14.—The gunboat Juliet caught fire in the pilothouse, on the morning of the 10th, below Memphis. Before the flames could be subdued, a large portion of the superstructure was consumed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The name of Albert White of Indiana will probably be sent to the Senate to-day for the Judgeship made vacant by the death of Caleb Smith.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—A Chattanooga letter to the World intimates that our cavalry will soon make a raid to Montgomery, Ala.

A fire last night destroyed the wholesale liquor store of Messrs. McBride, 176 Washington street, and damaged the stores of Geo. Eldpr & Co. and Willard & Freeman. Loss, $50,000.

The Herald's special Washington despatch says: It is very quiet to-day, except a rumor that the Third Corps is under marching orders.

The Herald's Baltimore correspondent confirms the arrival there of the schooner Joseph L. Gorty, heretofore reported as captured by a rebel privateer on her trip from Matamoras to Havana. Government had offered $500 for the capture of the piracy. Captains Hogg and Brown are both said to be in the rebel navy. The officers and vessel are under seizure and anchored under the guns of Fort Brown. Hogg, after selling part of the cargo and obtaining $7,000, has left for parts unknown.

BOSTON, Jan. 8.—Gov. Andrew's message was delivered to-day. The total number of men furnished by Massachusetts, previous to October, 1863, was 75,000. The Governor says: "Whenever one community can furnish volunteers for our armies, other communities can afford to pay them to come, but cannot afford to spare their own men from their industry; therefore, the simplest political economy teaches the wastefulness of refusing to allow those bounties to be adjusted by the laws of supply and demand."

MOSEY CREEK, TENN., Jan. 15.—A detachment of Col. McCook's cavalry attacked the Eighth and Eleventh Texas, yesterday, and killed fourteen and captured forty-one.

The statement that Longstreet had been reinforced by Lee's army is untrue.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—In the House Fernando Wood offered the following:

WHEREAS, accusations seriously affecting the official character of Gen. Butler in the discharge of his duties while in command at New Orleans have been publicly made, and officers have been charged with delinquency, oppressive conduct and conniving at frauds; AND WHEREAS, it is stated there have been collusions for military supplies in the army and navy; AND WHEREAS, recent disclosures show that in the New York Custom-house, and other branches of the Treasury Department, the revenue law has been defrauded, and treasonable aid given to disunionists; AND WHEREAS, it is apparent that a general demoralization and incapacity pervades the Executive branch of the Government to an extent which calls for the interposition and preventive legislation of Congress; therefore,

Resolved, That a committee of members be appointed to investigate and ascertain the foundation of these accusations, with power to send for persons and papers, to take testimony, and to make a recommendation of necessary reforms.

This was tabled. Yeas, 77; nays, 65.

Mr. Broomall offered the following:

WHEREAS, the burdens of Government should fall equal, if possible, on all parts of the country; AND WHEREAS, the Southern portion has contributed but little means and money towards the support of the Government; AND WHEREAS, for every black man enlisted in the South some man from the over-burdened North should be exempt from the draft; AND WHEREAS, the only way to effect this is to get the black man, if a soldier, the son-e of this House that the Government should use strenuous efforts to prevent them being used as slaves in rebel territory, by offering them full pay and bounties as other soldiers, and guranteed their freedom at once.

Mr. Cox moved to lay on the table, which was lost by a vote of 61 to 73.

A message was received from the Senate announcing the death of Senator Bowden. The usual resolutions of respect were passed.

The Senate memorials from Kansas and Wisconsin, praying for the abolition of slavery, were also presented.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—In the Senate, McDougall offered a joint resolution, from the California Legislature, in relation to the tax on native wine. It was referred to the Committee on Finance.

The Enrollment bill was taken up, and the original amendment of the Committee, striking out the three hundred dollar clause, was rejected by a vote of 28 to 11. Sherman's amendment, striking out section 4 of the original bill, providing that persons furnishing substitutes or commuting by money are liable to draft on future call, and raising the commutation to five hundred dollars, was lost. Various other amendments and modifications, were made.

The amendment exempting clergymen and persons conscientiously opposed to bearing arms, and allowing them, when drafted, to serve in Hospitals, provoked a long debate.

Mr Conness opposed the amendment, although he had many constituents of those classes. Exemptions under this clause would be more numerous than Senators think. The Unitarian might claim exemption because the immortal Channing had written the profoundest essay ever produced, illustrating the horrors of war. His regard for Quakers was such that if any other Senator but in this war he would take issue with Senators on the question of exempting them, if they refused to pay their commutation money. It is a Quaker war. They have claimed that slavery was the curse of the earth—a barbarous institution in the world; and this aggression against the institution has been the object of their fostering care for two hundred years.

Sumner asked if he understood the Senator to say that this is a war for the abolition of slavery.

Conness said he knew the Senator from Delaware would be brought into this debate. He would find out what his opinions on this subject were at another and more appropriate time; but as the Senator was pro-slavery, he desired to be understood that he (Conness) was anti-slavery. He asserted that this was a Quaker's war—a war of moral forces against the institution of slavery. He who opposed the exemption for conscience sake. He believed the safest and truest way to Heaven was to strike a rebel wherever he can be reached. [Applause.]

Amendments exempting clergymen and non-combatants passed.

The Senate also considered and passed several minor amendments to the bill.

The House Committee on Expenditures will commence at once their investigation in the New York Custom House frauds. Subpœnas have been sent to Collector Barney and other officials, to appear on the first of next week. The Committee are determined to ventilate, thoroughly, this and kindred matters in the Department. Members of the Committee have received numerous letters from New York informing them who to call and where to investigate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The House resumed the consideration of the Joint resolution, reported from the Judiciary Committee, to make the Confiscation Act conform to the Constitution, to the forfeiture of estates shall continue only during the lifetime of the offenders.

Mr. Cox argued that the confiscation system had proved an utter failure, and because of this failure the House was called upon to adopt another measure to stimulate the rebellion—to destroy what little Union feeling there was in the South.

Mr. Davis of Indiana replied, saying, from the course of Mr. Cox, and the majority on his side, no support of the Administration was to be expected from them, and when they tendered their support he (Davis) would look upon it with favor. Further proceedings on the subject were interrupted by the expiration of the morning hour.

EX-PRESIDENT PIERCE.—Next to old Mr. Buchanan, the guilt and the blood of the existing wicked rebellion may justly be charged in largest proportion upon Franklin Pierce. Under his administration the incipient measures for this awful civil war were taken with his approval, and carried into active operation by his official power. The national tranquility was disturbed and fierce sectional hostilities incited by the repeal of the time-honored Missouri Compromise under Pierce's administration, and with the aid of arbitrary Executive influence. This precipitated the Kansas contest, with its invasion of personal rights, its murderous atrocities, and the first armed collision between the North and the South. From this Pandora's box, opened upon the land by Franklin Pierce, we may Not content with the perpetration of the original wrong in the repeal of the Missouri Compromise—as the Commander in-chief of the army of the United States, Mr. Pierce made war upon the free people of Kansas, and attempted by armed force to reduce them to subjugation to the edicts of an infamous "Black code," that visited the penalties of five year's imprisonment upon any man that dared express an opinion against slavery in Kansas, and death for helping a fugitive to escape from his declared master. In every possible way, Mr. Pierce used the power of his administration to sanction and uphold frauds upon the ballot-box, and to "crush out" the opinions of the majority who had deliberately determined, according to the law itself, that Kansas should be free, just as the repealed Missouri Compromise had pledged the honor of the nation.

This was really the beginning of the rebellion. But in the contest, the people finally triumphed, and Kansas was made a free State. Yet, blood had been spilled in a sectional war inaugurated by Franklin Pierce. Enmities have been excited that could not be pacified. Vanquished in their efforts to subdue a free people, supported, too, by the exercise of unconstitutional powers by the national authorities, Southern statesmen then determined to avail themselves of the first opportunity promising success, to rebel against the Union itself, and destroy it. They used old Mr. Buchanan as an agent to strengthen them for the work. They secured under his administration possession of most of the war material of the Government. It was the incessant plotting of treason during the four years of his administration. They managed to divide the Democratic party, and thus secure the triumph of the Republican pary, that a pretext might be furnished for the rebellion. And before the close of Mr. Buchanan's term, they commenced the war, but not a thing was done by Mr. Buchanan to repel or defeat them. And so the terrible civil war was inaugurated.

But, notwithstanding these palpable truths of history, the guilty Franklin Pierce had the audacity to stand up before a partisan audience at Concord, N. H., on the 4th of July and made the assertion:

"Do we not all know that the cause of our calamities is the vicarious intermeddling of too many of the citizens of the Southern States with the constitutional rights of the Southern States, co-operating with the discontents of the people of those States? Do we not know that the disregard of the Constitution, and of the security it affords to the rights of States and individuals, has been the cause of the calamities our country is called to undergo?"

Here this man directly charges the guilt of the rebellion upon the people of the North, when his own record as Chief Magistrate proves that, at the dictation of Southern politicians, he put in operation the agencies of the war with his own guilty, blood-stained hands. A bold, outspoken rebel is certainly more honorable than a sneaking, libellous traitor.

This same Pierce declared in his speech, that we could never succeed "by arms" in maintaining the Union, and conquering an honorable peace. At the very time he was speaking, victory was recarving the valor of our troops upon the bloody field of Gettysburg and Pemberton was surrendering the rebel stronghold of Vicksburg, with its immense armament and 20,000 prisoners to the heroic Grant and his triumphant army.

Pierce went out of office as did Buchanan, despised by his own party, and reprobated by an outraged people. The Democratic National Convention snuffed him out without so much as giving him the poor benefit of a formal compliment. No wonder he is now the maligner of a loyal people, and a sympathiser with treason!—Troy Daily Times.

PRESIDENTIAL SPECULATION.—The St. Louis Democrat contains the following speculative communication on the presidency:

ST. LOUIS, November 10, 1863.

Editors Missouri Democrat: A writer in the Republican, of this city, over the nom de plume of "Cato," nominated as Union conservative candidates for the presidential succession, Major-General George B. McClellan, U. S. A., for president, and Hon. Orrin H. Browning, of Illinois, for vice president. We admit this a strong team—the one a conservative Democrat, and whilom military commander; the other a conservative Republican and one of the statesmen in the West. But we think we can beat it. And as nominating for the presidency is now "in order," we nominate:

For president—Abraham Lincoln, of Illinois.

For vice president—Daniel S. Dickenson, of New York.

This Union ticket will combine the Republican and the War Democrats, and distance "Little Mac." In case it becomes necessary to secure or divide the soldier's vote and influence, then we nominate Major General N. P. Banks, of Massachusetts, in place of Abraham Lincoln. "Let it be recorded."

EXAMINATION OF JURORS.—There was a large attendance of jurors in the Twelfth District Court to-day, and it was curious to hear applications to be excused after two hours waiting for the calendar to be called, from jury duty. Some had married wives. All had urgent private business to attend to. One had a boil on his neck—this not being in a locality that prevented his sitting; the excuse was not received as valid. A writer for a newspaper was told by the judge that to be familiar with cases on the calendar, or to have expressed an opinion on them freely, was no sort of objection to his sitting as a juror. Of course under that ruling the readers of newspapers will no longer be excused from jury duty. The interests of private business, though involving thousands of dollars, Judge Pratt held to be no ground for exemption, but when public business would be arrested by detaining a man on the jury, he was properly exempt.—S. F. Bulletin.

PIE BLANK.—The following is the best receipt for pie plant pies that we have ever seen: It is by a Pittsfield lady, in the papers of that place. "Throw in sugar as long as your conscience will let you, and then shut your eyes and throw in one handful more."

Portland Mercantile Library Association.—There will be a meeting of the subscribers to the Portland Mercantile Library Association this (Monday) evening, in the U. S. Court Room, to hear the report of the Committee appointed to propose a basis of organization, and such other business as may come before the meeting. Per order Committee,

MENTION was made spoken of in the OREGONIAN yesterday morning, as having been found in a yard, corner of Third and Taylor streets, where died of spasms. It could hardly have been expected to live, although Mr and Mrs Parker, under whose protection it had been thrown, cared for it as tenderly as pos

But it is dead, and what a comment is the morality of the place does that fact carry in its upward flight! What a dying load-stone must rest upon the hearts and consciences of the parties guilty of this single crime—worse than murder—when we reflect that they must yet stand accused, and should profit by such events as this, if is to be hoped it may We do not ac Portland of being the worst place in creation, but then, for the sake of humanity it would like to see more restraint placed the career of those hurrying to destruc ion they wake to a fearful pause—pro ly of their end

STEAM EXPENSES.—The steam ferry boat Oswego, owned by the Portland and Mil Ave Macadamized Road Company has been put out to pay for her keeping in her capacity, since she is of no service to the Company for the time being, as a ferry Last week one day she brought sixty cords of wood from Sauvie's Island, and also arrived from Lewis river with a cargo of hay, apples and vegetables She leaves this morning for a new line. She makes a novel appearance in this new business, and is a lit le hard to manage, owing to the shape of her hull, but her commander informs us she is making very good time, and pays expenses

THE STEAMER SENATOR, from Oregon City Sunday evening, brought down sixty passen gers and about 2,000 boxes of apples, one of which was immediately transferred to the Pacific, and forwarded to California. Last evening she brought eighteen passengers and freight.

HOME AGAIN.—We had no mail matter from Salem again, last night. While this is a great source of annoyance to us, yet we do not complain, knowing what the carriers have to pass through before getting here at

MAN OVERBOARD.—A workman on the Pacific accidentally fell into the river Saturday evening,—fortunately with no more damage than to take the starch out of his clothing, and cause a good laugh from his mates.

MERCANTILE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.—The committee appointed by the subscribers to the Library Association, will make a report on the basis of organization, at the United States District Court room this evening

THANKS.—We tender our thanks to Capt of the steamer Wilson G Hunt for favors extended on Saturday morning.

THE OREGON.—More people than usual at church yesterday, on account of the weather.

CARNIVAL IDEA.—Mr. Driard, of the Colo Hotel, Victoria, has struck a plan that must fail to become popular with our people, going that way to San Francisco He declares that "he has apartments kept ex ly for their accommodation during their stay."

J. L. Kingsley, of the Scandinavian, ap on a card this morning. The Scandi is a 1st top restaurant—no mistake IMPROVED Dresses.—The fashion of ing embroidery on cloaks ladies' dresses, in fact, garments of almost every descrip is rapidly on the increase in this coun imported, as are other fashions, from ce. Fortunately for the ladies, the crisis has not caught them unprepared, and left with no other means of ornamenting articles of dress but the tedious and tire some by hand There is at least one of popular sewing machines, (Grover & Ba which is adapted to both sewing and broidery—the latter as well and as rapidly sews the plainest sewing.—New York Tribune.

SHARP PRACTICE BY A FASHIONABLE LADY.—Several days ago, we heard of a fashionable Ball ing dent who shows to what lengths some ladies will go in order to shine in the ranks of fashion A lady whose husband is possessed of a considerable share of the world's goods but not so abundantly as quite to satisfy her Wi ham B Astor or Jam s K thought but two from the relatives whom she desired to 'bring out' at the Ladell Ball After purchasing the necessary dresses, gloves shoes and handkerchiefs, had dresses etc, she had only left to waste on diamonds, pearls, etc This small sum was just sufficient to pur chase a jeweled necklace from an Eastern house and this necklace could be worn by only one of the three ladies The question was, how were the other two to be supplied with the indispensable ornaments A council of war was held, and after an animated dis cussion, it was agreed that in order should be sent to the Eastern jeweler to send by express three diamond necklaces as samples, from which a choice could be made) The ladys husband being well known as a solid man, the three necklaces were despatched without hes itation, and arrived here a day or two pre vious to the ball The lady wore one of these to the ball and her two friends dazzled the eyes of shoddy with the others These costly ornaments attracted great attention and peo ple who knew the economical habits of the husband wondered at his liberality in deco rating his wife and relatives in so expensive a style. After the diamonds had done their work, two of the necklaces were returned to their owner while one was retained and promptly paid for This would be under a piece of female financiering worthy of the most strategic general of modern times.—St Louis paper.

Girls, do you want to get married, and do you want good husbands? If so, don't take pride in saying you never did house work—never cooked a pair of chickens—never made a bed—and so on Don't turn up your pretty noses at honest industry, never tell your friend you are not obliged to work When you go shopping, never take your mother with you to "carry the bundle."

Family Revenge.

In the Summer of 1833, I was obliged to spend a few days in Memphis. It was then a considerable town, though of course nothing like its present size or business importance. I arrived late at night, and in the morning, sallying out to see the town, I was taken somewhat aback at observing more than half the stores unopened, though it was then after ten o'clock. It did not take me long to arrive at the cause of this, for observing a string of people setting westward and through the main street, I questioned and was answered that "a fight's comin' off, stranger, just down in the gully."

I had come fresh from New York with certain civilized notions respecting duels which made the man's answer grate harshly upon my ear, and yet with the same morbid curiosity that makes men travel far and pay well to see a man hanged, I determined to go out and see the fight, as I saw clearly that it bade fair to be a holiday in Memphis, and that any business I had to do might as well be deferred until its citizens had settled "the fight." I therefore joined the throng for the gully, and walking overtook my original informant and undertook to get more knowledge from him. The fight, he told me, was to be between two men, Waldron and Jones by name, each representing a large family of the respective cognomens, and each fighting to settle an old family feud that had existed for over twenty years, and had already sacrificed to it three or four members on each side; for be it known that at the period of which I write, and even twenty years later, these family quarrels were carried out, in the southwest, with all the unforgivingness and venom of the Italian vendetta, transmitted from father to son, from brother to brother, and from kinsman to kinsman, with undying hatred. It was a duel of this description that I was going to witness.

Twenty minutes walk brought me upon the ground, where I found, already, about three or four thousand persons engaged in every conceivable occupation, whisky drinking being the most prominent. There were a few improvised tents upon the ground, where certain antiquated darkies dispensed luxuries in the shape of cold ham and corn bread, fried chickens and doughnuts, with various vegetables, and numberless wagons, barrows, and ox carts, each carrying a keg or barrel of whisky either on private account or to retail at half a dime a drink. On a liberal calculation I counted the crowd as three quarters drunk when I arrived upon the ground, and fast hurrying to make up the last quarter. The fight as my informant stated, was to come off at ten o'clock, and as it was then nearly eleven, I made no doubt but within a few minutes I should be gratified with the smell of powder in the first act.

It would have taken shrewd guessing to have strolled over that ground and told by the talk or actions of the thousands there gathered, for what purpose they had come together. Politics, business, crops, horses, and the state of the river were discussed, washed down with copious draughts of "bald face," but never a word about the affair that had brought them upon the ground. Hour after hour slipped by, and the sun beat its hottest rays down upon the crowd, and still they held on until near four o'clock, when a whisper ran about that the fight was about to come off.

Copying the example of the thousands about me, I ranged myself in one of the parallel rows that I saw forming, leaving a space of about fifty feet between the operations of the principals and their seconds. Every eligible tree and hillock was already taken possession of, and every standing spot that offered a fair sight of the coming entertainment. The first of the principals that made his appearance on the ground was Waldron, a tall, well built, good-looking fellow of about twenty-three. He walked nonchalantly about, shaking hands with one, laughing and chatting with another, taking a bit of tobacco with a third, until Jones made his appearance, when all hands prepared for business. Jones was a man of nearly forty, with a hard, repulsive face, and came upon the ground without noticing any one, going directly to his place and not leaving it or speaking to any one but his seconds.

The weapons were rifles, the distance sixty yards, and in a very few minutes the ground was measured and everything ready. For the first time then, that day, there was silence, each straining to hear the word and see the firing. At last it came. "Are you ready, gentlemen? One! two! three! fire!" And the sharp crack of the rifles rang through the gulley, and the heavy thud of Waldron's body followed it. The crowd stood still for an instant, and the seconds bent over him. He was dead—shot directly through the heart!

There was a low, suppressed murmur ran over the crowd, which in a few minutes broke out into wild conversation; and then I learned that this was the third member of the Waldron family that Jones had killed within the year. I had little time to consider it, for a mighty shout went up from the crowd, and I turned to see a tall, dark lad, who could not have been over seventeen, standing in the spot where but a few moments before the murderous ball had passed through a human heart, and to hear from those about me that it was the younger brother of Waldron.

A very little time elapsed when the second command was given, "Are you ready, gentlemen? One! two! three! fire!" And as the smoke cleared away I saw the younger Waldron sitting supported by his seconds. A few minutes elapsed, and I could see there was an argument proceeding between principal and seconds. I saw them lift him to his feet but he could not stand. Once more he was seated and two whisky casks were brought to prop him in a sitting posture, and it was understood there was to be another shot. I took a look at the face of Jones while this was going on, but I might as well have looked into the face of a statue.

Once more the rifles were loaded, once more the word was given, and the sharp crack answered. At that instant I had my eyes upon Jones, and I saw him start quickly, and turn suddenly towards the left, dealing his mouth wide as though gasping for air. Then he made three or four rapid steps towards the crowd, holding his rifle out before him, staggered and fell flat on his face. For a moment his seconds seemed paralyzed, and then hastening to raise him, he came up with his hands full of the grass where he had fallen, and his mouth filled with blood. They held him so only for an instant, for in that time the strong man's body became limp, and he dropped to the earth a dead man.

This finished the duel for that day, though there was talk about the last victim having a son, a growing lad, who was certain to take up the affair within a year, and fight it to a conclusion, he being the last member of that branch of the family of Jones.

Memphis that night, was riotously noisy, and drunken, over the event of the day, as well as curiously sympathetic to hear the doctor's report on the case of young Waldron, that they might calculate closely on how long it would be before they would have another holiday over the fight of the younger Jones and the wounded man.

There's a word of plural number,
A foe to peace and human slumber,
Of most of words that you would take,
By adding S you plural make;
But if an S you add to this,
How strange the metamorphosis:
Plural in plural then no more,
A sweet what bitter was before. CARES(s).

GENERAL GRANT IN A HORSE TRADE.—A few Congressmen entered into a conversation about the merits of different Generals in our army, in the course of which one of them told the following story about General Grant:

"I knew Ulysses Grant when he was a little boy. We used to go to school together, near Georgetown, Brown county, Ohio. The boys used to plague him dreadfully about a horse trade he once made. When he was about twelve years old, his father sent him a few miles into the country to buy a horse from a man named Ralston. The old man told Ulysses to offer Ralston fifty dollars at first; if he wouldn't take that to offer fifty-five dollars, and to go as high as sixty dollars if all less would make the purchase. The, emi'yeme Major General started off with these instructions fully impressed upon his mind. He called upon Ralston and told him he wished to buy the horse.

"How much did your father tell you to give for him?" was a very natural inquiry from the owner of the steed.

"Why," said Ulysses, "he told me to offer you fifty dollars, and if that wouldn't do to give fifty-five dollars, and if you wouldn't take less than sixty dollars to give you that."

Of course sixty dollars was the lowest figure, and on payment of that amount, the animal became the property of the young Napoleon."

THE SAILOR.—We trust our Navy to seamen, and how nobly they fulfill their trust! They are, under Heaven, as a providence to us. While we sleep, their unsparing watchfulness keeps guard over us. All night through that bell sounds at its season, and tells how our sentinels defend us. It rang when the Invincible was on fire, and chimed its heroic signal of duty, and courage, and honor. Think of the dangers these seamen undergo for us; the hourly peril and watch; the familiar storm; the dreadful iceberg; the long winter nights when the decks are as glass, and the sailor has to climb through icicles to bend the stiff sail on the yard. Think of their courage and their kindnesses in cold, in tempest, in hunger, in wreck! "The women and children to the boats," says the captain of the Birkenhead, and with the troops formed on the deck, and the crew obedient to the word of glorious command, the immortal ship goes down.—W. M. Thackeray.

TOO MUCH FOR HIS MONEY.—A native of the green isle of Erin called at one of our drug stores, the other day, with a prescription, the putting up of which he watched with great curiosity.

"What is that, my way?" said the customer.

"This," said the obliging apothecary, "is tincture cemifuga racemosa, and liniment of saphois, cantharides and opii."

A look of bewilderment changed to one of grave concern as the Irishman inquired, "And what is the price?"

"Thirty-seven cents," was the reply.

"Oeh, be jabers," said Patrick, "I thought two such names as that would cost me at least a dollar and a half.—New Bedford Mercury.

PATRIOTIC SENTIMENTS IN A WILL.—The will of Hannah Israel Davenport, recently deposited in the Register of Wills' office, in Philadelphia, closes as follows: "It is my wish that the children of my dear nephew be brought up in those principles of loyalty to the Government of the United States which their father always had, and for the support of which he offered up his life. If my wishes in this respect should be disregarded, none of those who shall be brought up with, or who shall adopt principles of disloyalty or hostility to the Government of the United States shall participate in my bounty; but he or she shall be totally excluded from any participation in or enjoyment of my estate."

PET.—We have some German friends up at Galena, who, in daily conversation, use the English language, but the mother teaches her children the lisping German prayers she used to repeat in her childhood, away back at home on the banks of the Rhine. One night, as little Ernest, a precocious chap of some four summers, was quietly going through his evening devotions, he suddenly electrified and astonished his pious mother, by exclaiming: "Ma, why do we always talk Yankee and pray German? Is God a Dutchman?" We will give Harper's Drawer two months to beat that break.—Washte Times.

Two little children were talking of the moon the other evening. Charley said, very solemnly, in his innocent communication, that it was "Dod." "No it ain't," said Sarah, "it ain't big enough." "Well," replied the boy, determined not to be put down altogether, "it is the hole he looks through, anyhow!"

To the Public.

I WOULD HEREBY CALL THE ATTENTION of the public to the fact, that on the first of May next, they will be called upon by the United States Assessor to make a statement of income for the year 1863, and the law requires that all persons shall, on demand of the Assessor, make such statement on oath or affirmation, when called upon by the Assessor.

Under the ruling of the Commissioner of Internal revenue, persons can only deduct expenses for repairs, etc., from the amount received from the same property upon which such expenditure have been made. For instance, a person receives $500 for rents, he can use of that amount all that is necessary to repair such property, from which rents are received, and the same applies to steam boats, saw mills, and other like property, but all money derived from interest on notes, Bonds, Mortgages, and from dividends, must be returned as income, although a portion of the profits has been expended in repairing buildings, steamboats, etc.

All persons will please have their accounts and statements showing amounts received and the source from which received, and amount expended, and for what purpose, ready with the forms and blanks which will be furnished them by the Assessor. A correct return can be made.

Grocers, Boatmen and Auctioneers please copy.

EXTRACT BUCHU,

A POSITIVE AND SPECIFIC REMEDY

FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL

AND

DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.

This Medicine increases the power of DIGESTION and excites the absorbents into healthy action, by which the WATERY or CALCEROUS deposits, and all UNNATURAL ENLARGEMENTS are diminished, as will all PAIN and INFLAMMATION, and is good for MEN, WOMEN OR CHILDREN.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU

For Weakness arising from Excesses, Habits of Dissipation, Early Indiscretion or Abuse,

ATTENDED WITH THE FOLLOWING SYMPTOMS:

Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Weak Nerves, Horror of Disease, Dimness of Vision, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Hot Hands, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance.

Loss of Power, Diffidence of Speaking, Trembling, Wakefulness, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Sight, Nervous Irritability, Wasting of the Body, Eruptions on the Face,

These symptoms if allowed to go on, which this medicine invariably removes, soon follows

Impotency, Fatuity, Epileptic Fits,

IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.

Who can say that they are not frequently followed by those direful diseases,

"INSANITY AND CONSUMPTION."

Many are aware of the cause of their suffering, but few will confess

THE RECORDS OF THE INSANE ASYLUMS!

And the melancholy deaths by Consumption bear ample witness to the truth of the assertion that

THE CONSTITUTION,

once affected by Organic Weakness,

Requires the Aid of Medicine, to strengthen and invigorate the system, which invariably does.

THERE NO MORE BALSAM, MERCURY, OR UNPLEASANT MEDICINE FOR UNPLEASANT AND DANGEROUS DISEASES.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU,

AND

HELMBOLD'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH

CURES SECRET DISEASES,

In all their Stages, At Little Expense, Little or no Change in Diet, No inconvenience, AND NO EXPOSURE.

It causes a frequent desire and gives strength to the Urinate, thereby Removing Obstructions, Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, allaying Pain and Inflammation, so frequent in the class of Diseases, and expelling all Poisonous, diseased and worn out matter.

THOUSANDS UPON THOUSANDS

Who have been the victims of Quacks

and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in short time, have found they were deceived, and that the "POISON" has, by the use of "Powerful Astringents," been driven up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, and perhaps after marriage.

Use Helmbold's Extract Buchu

For all Affections and Diseases of the URINARY ORGANS, whether existing in MALE OR FEMALE, from whatever cause originating, and

NO MATTER OF HOW LONG STANDING.

Diseases of these Organs require the aid of a Diuretic.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU

IS THE GREAT DIURETIC,

And it is certain to have the desired effect in Diseases for which it is recommended.

Evidence of the most Responsible and reliable character will accompany the medicines.

Certificates of Cures

From Right to Twenty Years' standing; with names known to science and fame.

"PHYSICIANS," PLEASE NOTICE.

We make no "secret of Ingredients." HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is a compound of Buchu, Cubebs, Juniper Berries, selected with great care by a competent Druggist. Prepared in vacuo, by H. T. HELMBOLD, Practical and Analytical Chemist, and Sole Manufacturer of

Helmbold's Genuine Preparations.

AFFIDAVIT.

Personally appeared before me, an Alderman of the city of Philadelphia, H. T. HELMBOLD, who being duly sworn, doth say his preparations contain no narcotic, no mercury, or other injurious drugs, but are purely vegetable.

Sworn and subscribed before me, this 23d day of November, 1854. WM. F. HIBBARD,

Beware of Counterfeits and Unprincipled Dealers.

The extraordinary success of the above "Compounds" and "Fluid" attracts the attention of the unprincipled, who attempt to counterfeit the reputation attained by
